In 1915, Dr. Carter G. Woodson and Rev. Jesse E. Moorland co-founded the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History (ASNLH). Their goal was to research and bring awareness to the largely ignored, yet crucial role black people played in American and world history. The following year, Woodson published and distributed his findings in The Journal of Negro History. He founded the publication with the hope that it would dispel popular mistruths. He also hoped to educate black people about their cultural background and instill them with a sense of pride in their race. He selected the month of February for the celebration as a way to honor of the birth of two men whose actions drastically altered the future of black Americans. Abraham Lincoln, the U.S. President who issued the Emancipation Proclamation was born on February 12th and

Frederick Douglass, one of the nation's leading abolitionists was born on February 14th.

Dr. Carter G. Woodson died in 1950, but his legacy continued on as the celebration of Negro History Week was adopted by cities and organizations across the country.

The Black Power Movement of the 1970s emphasized racial pride and the significance of collective cultural values. This prompted the ASNLH, now called the Association for the Study of African American Life and History, to change Negro History Week to Black History Week.

In 1976, they extended the week to a month-long observance.

Black History Month is now recognized and widely celebrated by the entire nation on both a scholarly and commercial level. The Association for the Study of African American Life and History continues to promote, preserve and research black history and culture year-round.

January Review

January brought some of the ugliest weather for January! However, here at Building Blocks, our spirits were warm with all of our January activities!

The school was closed Monday, January 19th to honor Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and all of his amazing contributions to America.

For February, we return recharged and ready to put our new ideas to work! February will be an exciting month, which will include making some amazing foods and trying some African foods, Valentine's day class party, and much more!!!

Valentine's Day parties will be held within your child(ren) classrooms. For the parties we will ask parents/guardians to bring in store bought items only. This will be a time where the children can "love" on one another through sweets and treats. We encourage love and unity within the classrooms.

Can't wait to keep this amazing year going. So here's to a strong 2026.

My World

This month we are learning all about Africa and the African culture. We are planning to learn about African holidays, language, traditional garments, and even taste test African dishes. Ms. Denise, BBLA kitchen supervisor, will prepare unique African dishes for the children to taste.

Upcoming Dates

Copayments DUE	February 5th Thursday
Valentine's Day Party	February 13th Friday
Presidents' Day	February 16th Monday

The acceptance of the facts of African-American history and the African-American historian as a legitimate part of the academic community did not come easily. Slavery ended and left its false images of black people intact.
